

Closing Phase Begins

Prosecution Sums Up Case Against Riding Ranch Owner On Murder Charge

JEFFERSON CITY (AP)—The prosecution began its closing arguments in the first degree murder trial of Victor I. (Tex) Varner today by calling the ambush slaying of a rival riding ranch operator and his boy helper a cold-blooded, sneak killing.

Prosecuting Atty. Leroy Snodgrass of Miller County said the state proved beyond any question that Varner lay in ambush and killed Edwin Boysen, 47, and Larry Irwin, 15, on the night of July 5.

The bodies of Boysen and the boy were found the following morning near one of Varner's horseback riding trails not far from his stable and near the resort town of Osage Beach, Mo.

Snodgrass took the all-male jury back over the evidence step-by-step. He began by recalling the testimony of Marjorie Roberts, who said she had been living with Boysen, and Don Arnold Jr., 12-year-old witness who testified he saw the victims about 8 p.m. in the pasture where their bodies were found.

Snodgrass reviewed the testimony which sought to prove Varner and Boysen had been feuding a year over the cutting of fences along Varner's riding trails.

Varner formerly ran the riding stable in the Lake of the Ozarks State Park but Mrs. Roberts subsequently won the concession. Varner opened a new spread a short distance away.

"This was no western killing," Snodgrass told the jury. "Eddie Boysen was shot in the back. This was a sneak killing, an ambush killing and from the rear."

The closing arguments began after Circuit Judge Sam C. Blair instructed the jury it had three possible verdicts: 1. Guilty with the death penalty. 2. Guilty with life imprisonment. 3. Acquittal.

Judge Blair went into detail with the jury in discussing circumstantial evidence. He said it must be weighed against the consistency of the facts developed by it.

Varner, still wearing the western garb he's had on since the trial started Monday, followed the instructions of the court closely. Occasionally he leaned over to talk with his attorneys.

The dapper 50-year-old defendant flushed once or twice when the prosecutor pointed to him and called him a cold-blooded killer.

Snodgrass emphasized in his closing statement that ballistic tests linked Varner's rifle to the crime. He argued the defense had presented evidence to show the gun had been stolen or was missing. He said when the sheriff went to get the gun Varner did not produce it.

During the investigation, Varner maintained the gun was stolen. The case was expected to go to the jury in the afternoon.

The state wound up its evidence yesterday by presenting two witnesses who said they saw Varner's truck at his riding stable at the same time a defense witness said Varner was in a tavern at Osage Beach.

Yesterday Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Laaker and two other defense witnesses supported Varner's claim that he was in a tavern operated by Laaker at the estimated time of the shooting. The tavern is in Osage Beach, 2½ miles from the scene of the crime.

The state, in rebuttal, called Mr. and Mrs. Dave Schaefer of Gladstone, Mo., to the stand. They testified they saw Varner's truck at his stable, a quarter of a mile from the death scene, shortly before 8 p.m. July 5.

Two Homes Destroyed By Arkansas Tornado

MARSHALL, Ark. (AP)—Two homes were destroyed and several others were damaged by a tornado which struck on the outskirts of this north Arkansas town yesterday.

Alva Compton, 65, a farmer of near Marshall, was cut on the head by a large hailstone during a heavy storm which preceded the twister.

Down Payment Halted

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Eisenhower announced today the Veterans Administration is removing immediately the 2 per cent down payment requirement on VA-guaranteed home loans.

REBELS TIGHTEN STRANGLEHOLD—Members of Fidel Castro's rebel column meet at an assembly point in the Sierras of Cuba before a hit-and-run attack on a local government patrol post. The rebels reportedly tightened their stranglehold on Oriente province.

Castro Turns Down Offer Of Amnesty

Declares Total War Against the Regime At Midnight Tonight

HAVANA, Cuba (AP)—Rebel leader Fidel Castro ignored a government amnesty offer and declared total, implacable war against President Fulgencio Batista's regime will begin tonight.

From his mountain hideout in eastern Cuba, Castro issued a statement setting the hour for action at a minute past midnight. He had declared previously that Batista must resign by Saturday to save Cuba from further bloodshed.

Castro declared his patrols are moving in all directions in Oriente province of eastern Cuba. They were reported spreading devastation around Santiago de Cuba, the provincial capital.

The fight against Batista has entered its final stage, Castro said. Residents of the sugar mill city of Sagua de Tanamo, 50 miles northeast of Santiago, reported by telephone that 1,000 rebels were operating near the city, wrecking transport.

This column, led by Castro's brother Raul, was expected to turn southwestward after attacking or bypassing Sagua de Tanamo and join another column led by Juan Almeida, a Castro lieutenant.

The rebel objective seemed to be to smash all railways, highways, telephone and telegraph communications and isolate Santiago. It seemed unlikely that the rebels would directly attack the heavily guarded city.

Government forces made no effort to attack the two rebel columns. They apparently were waiting for the rebels to advance farther into open territory, away from the mountains they have used for hideouts.

More Spring Showers Expected to Develop

KANSAS CITY (AP)—More spring showers and thunderstorms are headed for Missouri.

They are expected to develop in the extreme southwest corner this evening and spread over the state tonight and continue Saturday.

They will be followed by a little cooler weather. Saturday's highs are forecast to range from 55 to 60 in the extreme northeast to the 60s southwest.

The Fair Sex Takes Over

FEMALE CITY FATHERS—It will be curtains and lace for the city hall in Alexandria, Mo. At the election held this week, voters of the northeast Missouri town elected a woman mayor for the first time. She is Mrs. Verna Rose Mitchell, standing at right. With the mayor is a newly elected alderman, Mrs. Marmion. Mrs. Lorene Colwell, new city clerk, is seated at the desk. (AP Wirephoto).

Parole Board Approved

State Senate Passes Blair's Appointments

JEFFERSON CITY (AP)—The Missouri Senate confirmed three members of the State Board of Probation and Parole today, along with all the rest of Gov. James T. Blair's pending appointments.

The governor designated George N. Elder, 55, of Willow Springs, an experienced parole officer, yesterday as chairman of the Pa-

Britons Begin Protest Trek Against Bomb

LONDON (AP)—Several thousand Britons today began a 50-mile four-day protest march against the hydrogen bomb.

They slogged through the heart of London toward their goal, the quiet town of Aldermaston where Britain conducts research on the H-bomb and other weapons.

On Monday they plan to assemble in an open field near the research center and then send a resolution to the American, Soviet and British governments.

"We urge the governments of Britain, Russia and America to stop testing, manufacture and storing of all nuclear weapons immediately," the resolution says.

The crowd was given a sendoff by Canon Lewis J. Collins, of St. Paul's cathedral. "This demonstration," he said, "is not the end, but the beginning of a campaign to stop a policy made in our name but without our consent."

He spoke in Trafalgar Square beneath the statue of Britain's great sea warrior, Adm. Horatio Nelson.

Scores of parents pushed babies in carriages. Many boys and girls carried banners.

Erica Landon, a blue-eyed 12-year-old girl, clutched a poster reading: "Give us a chance." Another girl, 16-year-old Sarah Carter, held aloft a banner which said: "Let Britain give the lead."

Her 14-year-old brother trudged along with a poster that said: "No more tests."

As the mile-long line passed just beyond Buckingham Palace, they encountered a small group supporting the H-bomb and its testing.

This group, organized by a committee headed by the Conservative member of Parliament, P. B. Lucas, turned their backs to the marchers.

role Board succeeding Lewis M. Means. Reappointed were Ben B. Stewart of Cameron and Elwood B. Robinson of Kirksville.

Also confirmed today were Col. James D. Carter as state director of corrections, Dr. John W. Schwada of Columbia, comptroller and budget director, Maj. Gen. Albert D. Sheppard of Doniphan as adjutant general, Dean Lupkey of Jefferson City as state defense director and John A. Williams of Pacific as a state tax commissioner.

Other appointments approved on this final day of the special legislative session:

Resources and development Commission—George D. Clayton Jr., of Hannibal, E. L. Dale of Carthage, Warren W. Fuqua of Columbia and D. W. Snyder of Jefferson City.

State Board of Mediation—Albert Fults of St. Louis, Charles R. Bibbs of St. Joseph, Truman Henry of Lee's Summit and C. Robert Stockhus of Kirkswood.

Water pollution board—Harvey A. Jones of Kansas City, Freeman Johnson of Joplin, Raymond Krebs of Springfield, J. Marshall Thompson of DeSoto, Perry Phillips of Columbia and Harry H. Hilliker of St. Louis.

State Dental Board—Dr. Philip G. Vierheller Jr., of St. Louis and Dr. F. Copeland Sheldon of Kansas City.

St. Joseph board of Police Commissioners—Robert G. Clayton.

State Board of Nursing—Mrs. Alma F. Van Matre of Springfield.

State Board of Cosmetology—Helen E. Tempelman of Kansas City.

Board of Advisers, State School for the Blind at St. Louis—R. Walton Chubb of St. Louis.

State Board of Education—Frances Harriet Williams of St. Louis.

Board of Curators, Lincoln University—Carl Johnson of Kansas City.

Board of Regents, Northeast State Teachers College—Andy Zenge Jr., of Canton.

Yesterday the governor also named John J. Griffin of St. Louis chairman of the governor's committee on employment of the physically handicapped, a job that does not require senate approval.

Warsaw Woman Says Mate Buried in Wrong Plot; Seeks $3,000

KANSAS CITY, Kan. (AP)—A Warsaw, Mo., widow says her husband is buried in the wrong cemetery plot. Mrs. Elizabeth L. Gunter says this makes her nervous and asks $3,000 from the cemetery.

Mrs. Gunter filed suit Thursday against Chapel Hill Memorial Gardens, Inc.

Her petition claims the cemetery lots the family desired were falsely represented as having been sold and burial made in another part of the cemetery.

She says she will not permit disinterment.

Harry Gunter died Oct. 25, 1957.

Will Not Get It All Done

Legislative Leaders Believe Another Session Necessary

JEFFERSON CITY (AP)—Legislative leaders gloomily predicted today they will not be able to finish their job by midnight and will have to come back for another special session.

House Speaker Pro Tem Richard H. Ichord (D) of Texas County explained it this way today between a secret session of the House and a caucus of the Democratic majority:

"We haven't got one conference committee report yet on the 17 appropriation bills. We're recessed until 3 p.m. And if we don't get the compromise figures ready by then it's about over."

Just the job of printing the compromise figures will take time.

But there's basis for lots of argument in the bills.

During the House's fourth secret session today, members voted overwhelmingly against increasing funds for the University of Missouri's Agricultural Extension Service beyond the amount the House had originally approved.

The House also rejected a Senate move to appropriate $460,000 to the Kansas City Psychiatric Center.

One of the votes during the secret session, seen through a chamber door, showed only eight votes for and over a hundred against.

Sen. John W. Noble (D) of Kennett, Senate Appropriations chairman, still held out hope that agreement could be reached by the House-Senate Conference on money bills in time to beat the midnight deadline.

But House members were aroused and bitter. Many of them said it looked like they would be back right away because Gov. James T. Blair will have to carry out his promise to call another session if the appropriation bills aren't passed tonight.

Last night the conference committee haggled for hours over state aid to county roads, salary increases at state hospitals and other problems but didn't get the sharp differences settled.

A year ago the regular session collapsed on the final night with the catchall appropriation bill lost in confusion.

This time the so-called omnibus bill didn't even get into the hands of the conference committee until last night after the Senate had tacked on increases totalling more than $2,450,000.

The increases, including $460,335 to operate the Kansas City Psychiatric Receiving Center, caused consternation in the House.

The bill also carried an extra $500,000 for state aid to county roads. The Senate voted $2 million for this purpose earlier but the House had approved $3 million.

One bill caught in the last minute jam was a salary increase for state Comptroller John W. Schmada.

Gov. James T. Blair recommended $15,000 and the House went along with this figure. But the Senate cut it back to $12,000 and last night refused to approve the higher rate.

If the bill fails, the salary would continue at its present $11,000 level—a thousand less than Schmada has been getting as head of the governor's budget staff since last summer.

Sedalia Man Killed Friday By a Train

Accident Occurs On Overpass Near Municipal Airport

Joseph James Brandkamp, 27, of 2402 South Ohio, was killed about 3 a.m. Friday when struck by Missouri Pacific passenger-mail Train No. 10 at the 12th street overpass over East Highway 50 just west of the Sedalia Memorial Airport. Brandkamp was found in the middle of the highway beneath the overpass at 4:12 a.m. by Officers Murl Steele and Charles Knapp.

Brandkamp had been at the Airport Cafe, west of the airport, a short time earlier with two other men. Employees were not sure when they left. Mrs. Wail Branstetter, owner of the cafe, had passed the location a few minutes earlier to go to police headquarters regarding a man who had been arrested there earlier.

On the way into town, she passed the police patrol car with Officers Steele and Knapp at about Hancock on Broadway. They continued on out the highway, and as they started to go down the grade to the underpass, they noticed something in the highway. Stopping, they found the body and immediately notified police headquarters. Their call was made at 3:12 a.m.

It was first believed Brandkamp had been the victim of a hit-and-run accident, and the officers immediately called for a check of all cars in the area which might be suspected. Several cars were checked while police officers stood by at the scene.

Dr. Charles G. Stauffacher, coroner, was notified and viewed the body at the scene. Harold Barlick, prosecuting attorney, was likewise notified and went to the scene with State Trooper Richard Joos.

Investigation revealed evidence someone had been on the tracks on the overpass a short time earlier. A call was made through the police to the Missouri Pacific depot and they had the train checked at Jefferson City.

Engineer Herbert Wonneberg, St. Louis, reported he believed he hit a man on the overpass at Sedalia but was not positive at the time because of the heavy fog. Because he was not positive, Wonneberg explained, he proceeded on. The train left the depot at 2:57, and it was believed the accident occurred about six minutes later.

In Old Jerusalem

Easter Hymns Mingle With Moslem Calls For Prayers

JERUSALEM (AP)—The Easter hymns of Christians mingled with Moslem calls to Ramadan prayers in the Old City of Jerusalem today while Jews across the armistice line in New City stocked up for Passover feasts tonight.

With celebrations of the three religions coinciding, the Holy City was bustling with pilgrims on both sides of the armistice line dividing it between Israel and Jordan.

About 5,000 Christians from a dozen nations gathered in the Jordan-held Old City, where Jesus was tried and condemned by Pontius Pilate. Breaking up into groups according to languages, they carried heavy crosses along the route Jesus followed to crucifixion. At each of the 14 stations of the cross they stopped for hymns and sermons.

As the Way of the Cross procession began, Moslems assembled nearby at the hallowed Dome of Rock for the usual Friday prayers during Ramadan, the holy month of fasting. The Dome of Rock marks the spot where the prophet Mohammed ascended on horseback into heaven. The rock once was the sacred altar of the Jewish temple from which Jesus drove the money changers.

At the other end of the Way of the Cross, the Church of Holy Sepulchre, Christians were to enter the church courtyard opposite the mosque of Amar as loudspeakers in the mosque's minaret broadcast sermons in Arabic.

Jews in the New City prepared for Seder, the feast just after sundown which opens the weeklong Passover festival. The traditional spring festival commemorates the emancipation from Egyptian slavery of ancient Israelites led by Moses.

2 Versailles Men Injured In Car Wreck

Two men from Versailles received painful injuries about 5:15 p.m. Thursday when the car they were riding in went out of control and overturned. The accident occurred on U. S. Highway 50 about a mile west of Syracuse.

In the Bothwell Hospital are Nephth Benson "Judd" Owens, 40, Route 3, Versailles, and William Ennis Taylor, 40, of Versailles.

Owens suffered abrasions, multiple cuts and bruises and his condition is not believed to be serious.

Taylor received a severe laceration on the right cheek which ranged from just below the eye down through both lips and then made a curve outward on the chin. He also received minor cuts, abrasions and bruises.

The two were brought to Sedalia in the Richards ambulance and taken to the hospital where Dr. C. Gordon Stauffacher rendered emergency treatment.

According to the Missouri State Highway Patrol in Jefferson City, the car, a 1957 Chevrolet, was headed east on the highway, ran off the road on the right shoulder which was soft, and the driver lost control. The car swerved backward to the left, skidding on the pavement, and went off the highway on the left and crashed into an embankment. The car was reportedly damaged to an extent of more than $1,200.

It was towed to Syracuse. Driver of the vehicle had not been determined by the Patrol as neither man was able to talk when taken into the hospital.

Clergy Files Suit Against Nuclear Tests

Contend Atomic Energy Act Is Unconstitutional

WASHINGTON (AP)—A group of scientists, churchmen and others filed suit today seeking to halt U. S. nuclear tests.

The plaintiffs contend the Atomic Energy Act is unconstitutional.

A press release said similar suits will be filed in British courts and attorneys will seek visas at the Russian Embassy here to enter Russia to prosecute a suit there.

The first reaction of lawyers was that the suit has little chance of success.

While the secretary of defense and the five members of the Atomic Energy Commission are named defendants as individuals, the government is expected to contend that the suit in effect is against the United States.

Suits against individual government officials cannot be maintained in the courts, without the government's consent, unless the officials act unlawfully without delegated authority, or the act under which they function is unconstitutional.

The action was taken as anti-bomb groups demonstrated at United Nations headquarters in New York, and in England. At the same time, propaganda pressure for the West to join in Russia's announced plan to stop nuclear tests was stepped up in the Communist bloc nations and in some other countries, notably Japan and India. President Eisenhower has denounced the Russian move as a propaganda gimmick.

Woman Disappears Leaving Child Alone

HUTCHINSON, Kan. (AP)—"My mommy and daddy have left me," a bewildered little boy told a neighbor yesterday.

Jeffrey Allan Easterday, 3½, apparently spent two nights alone at home. His father was on a flight to Texas; his mother is missing.

Easterday, arriving home, said he had sent $25 to his wife, also 26, by an acquaintance the day he left. The money was found at home. Mrs. Easterday's coat and glasses also were found in the home.

"She's just gone," said Sheriff Roy Sheppard. "We have no idea what happened."

The neighbor telephoned Sheppard after young Jeffrey said he had spent two nights alone. He prepared meals for himself and his two dogs. He ate dry cereal, cocoa and oatmeal.

Hides Under Desk As Man Telephones

LITTLE ROCK, Ark. (AP)—Paul Jacks took his 5-year-old son Paul Jr. with him when he returned to the office of a lumber company to catch up on some work. While papa was making a phone call, the youngster suddenly tugged on his sleeve.

"Daddy, there's a man under the desk," he said.

Jacks looked. A man crouched in the knee hole of the desk from which Jacks was phoning. Jacks got a hammer and held the man at bay until police arrived.

The meeting of Presbyterial will be held at Holden Thursday.

Retires to Ladies Room to Give Birth

SALT LAKE CITY (AP) — Mrs. Wade Merrill, 23, Provo, Utah, attending a primary conference of the Latter-Day Saints Church yesterday, excused herself and retired to the ladies room of the conference hall, where she gave birth to a baby girl. The baby was premature and weighed less than five pounds.

Policeman David Bradford rushed to give assistance. He and Mrs. Evelyn Distalano worked together to deliver the child. An ambulance crew rushed Mrs. Merrill and the infant to a hospital, where the child was put into an incubator.

The unperturbed lecturer, Mrs. Lou Groesbeck, who had been discussing "Ways of Teaching Music to Children," announced there would be another primary child to which the group could sing.

Easter Sunrise Service Planned

The annual sunrise services will be held at 6:30 a. m. Sunday at the Dresden Methodist Church with a breakfast to follow. Sunday School will be held at 9:30 a. m. and worship service at 10:30 a. m.

Set Sunrise Service

There will be Easter sunrise services at the Houstonia Methodist Church Sunday morning. The Community and Baptist Church will join in these services.

Souls Facing Sunrise Is Trinity Lutheran Easter Sunday Topic

"Souls Facing the Sunrise" will be the sermon topic of the Rev. Dawn" by Charles Vincent, under Church Easter Sunday. The choir will render "As It Began to Dawn" by Charles Vincent, under the direction of Jack Reshong. The confirmation class will make its first communion in this service at 10:45 a. m. Preparations for an overflow crowd have been made.

The Trinity people have been asked to bring a gift offering to the Easter service, to help make up $2,000 for debt reduction.

The Tuesday fellowship dinner will not be held, as repairs for the church basement are being considered.

Choir rehearsal will be Thursday at 7:45 p. m. Both circles of the ULCW will meet Thursday. The Day Circle will meet with Mrs. Allen Telford, 1414 South Carr, at 1:30 p. m. The Night Circle will meet with Mrs. Alvin Lumpe, 507 East 16th, at 8 p. m.

A parish education workshop will be held in Kansas City to go over Vacation Bible School materials. All teachers have been invited to attend this workshop.

New Salem Baptists Have Outdoor Service

An outdoor Sunrise Service will be presented at 4:30 a. m. Easter morning by the New Salem Baptist Church at Marshall Junction.

The service will be centered around two incidents in the life of Christ — the Crucifixion and the Resurrection. Mrs. Ernest Aldridge, Sweet Springs, and James Horner, Kansas City, have created and painted life-size figures of Christ to be used in the portrayal of the two incidents. The Crucifixion and Resurrection will be dramatically spotlighted as special Easter music is presented by the church choir under the leadership of James Renison.

The public is invited to attend. The nature of the outdoor service will enable people to remain in their cars during the presentation. Coffee and doughnuts will be served in the church basement following the service.

Aldus To Navagerus....

Contrary to opinion and definition, an editor's sanctum is not a place free from intrusion, nor located in an ivory tower. It's one flight up at the Sedalia Democrat-Capital and two doors are always open. This is an extra convenience, originally designed no doubt to allow the editor a sporting chance to escape the distraught reader who enters to inquire "who write the piece."

The open door has its disadvantages, too, as an invitation to all and sundry to spend a moment in chit chat, yet we would have it no other way. This problem is a common one to busier men than an editor. Against it some just erect physical or human barriers.

A fellow named Aldus Manutius wrote expressively on the subject to his friend Navagerus away back in 1514, according to David T. Armstrong's contribution of the letter to The Graphic Arts Monthly:

I am hampered in my work by a thousand interruptions. Nearly every hour comes a letter from some scholar, and if I undertook to reply to them all, I should be obliged to devote day and night to scribbling. Then through the day come calls from all kinds of visitors. Some desire merely to give a word of greeting, others want to know what there is new, while the greater number come to my office because they have nothing else to do. "Let us look in on Aldus," they say to each other. Then they loaf in and sit and chatter to no purpose. Even these people with no business are not so bad as those who have a poem to offer or something in prose (usually very prosy indeed) which they wish to see printed with the name of Aldus. These interruptions are now becoming too serious for me, and I must take steps to lessen them. Many letters I simply leave unanswered, while to others I send very brief replies, and as I do this not from pride or discourtesy, but simply in order to be able to go on with my task of printing good books, it must not be taken hard. As a warning to the heedless visitors who use up my office hours to no purpose, I have now put up a big notice on the door of my office to the following effect:

Whoever thou art, thou art earnestly requested by Aldus to state thy business briefly and to take thy departure promptly. In this way thou must be of service even as was Hercules to the weary Atlas, for this is a place of work for all who may enter.

The Washington Merry-Go-Round

U. S. Vulnerable In Modern War

By DREW PEARSON

(Editor's Note — Drew Pearson's column today takes the form of a letter to his eldest grandson, Drew Arnold, in California)

WASHINGTON
April 4, 1958

Dear Drew,

It is now the first of April and some of the snow we had two weeks ago is still unmelted in the shadow of the house at the farm. The snow was so heavy it broke all the electric lines. Many people in this part of Maryland and Virginia had no heat or water for days and it made us realize how dependent we have all become on modern conveniences and how helpless we would be in case of an atomic-bomb attack.

At the farm it was the cows which suffered most. When the electricity went off we couldn't run the milking machines and the cows objected to being milked by hand. They kicked over the bucket and kicked Mr. Taylor. They just didn't want to have anything but a machine milking them. You wouldn't think that a cow would get so mechanized, but they have.

I finally got the generator rental company in Washington to promise to send an electric generator so we could get enough electricity to run the milkers. They promised to get the generator out by 11 a.m. but they didn't get it there until 10 p.m. I kept calling and calling, but so many people wanted electricity that they came ahead of the cows, and we didn't get them milked until about 11 o'clock at night. That meant about 36 hours of waiting, and the poor cows were in great pain.

Cows Go Dry

After that they dried up. At the next milking we got only five gallons instead of the usual 200. Nature does that to a cow when she can't be milked. She just stops giving milk. It has taken us two weeks of careful feeding to get them back to about 175 gallons.

Of course, when the electricity gave out the water pump stopped and we had no water. We drove the cows to the pond to drink, and the rest of us walked down to the spring to get water. The oil burners also stopped, and some people had to shiver in their homes for almost a week.

When I was your age and visited my grandfather's farm in Kansas, we didn't have electricity or running water or bathrooms. We pumped water out of the well by hand and we had old-fashioned outhouses. Heavy snow didn't make any difference to us.

Later in Swarthmore, Pa., our family lived in an old house where Benjamin West, the first American artist, was born, and we didn't have electricity either. We used kerosene lamps. Now, your Grand-daddy is not quite as old as this sounds. But the point is that we have made a lot of progress in the last 50 years and none of us wants to go back to kerosene lamps and outside privies.

However, what a lot of people around Washington began to realize during that last big snow was that we will have to go back to this if we ever get into a war.

You know from reading history at school that the United States has never been attacked on its own continental soil for more than a hundred years — since the British landed in Washington in 1814. When we had to fight wars we have fought them abroad. We haven't known what it was to have our houses blown up, our electricity cut and water turned off.

If there is ever atomic war, however, these things will all happen — right here at home.

This is not a very happy thought to be thinking about at Easter time. But it is much better to think about it than be unprepared. And one trouble with some of our leaders in government is that they have been going around with their heads in the clouds saying we had nothing to worry about from Russia, that Russia is a nation of peasants. However, they are smart people and also, I believe, peace-loving people. I am sure the little boys of Russia don't hate you any more than you hate them. I am sure you would have a good time playing with each other.

And if we just get better acquainted with each other we don't have to hate or be suspicious of each other. People who know each other and like each other don't fight one another.

Recently the Russians have been surprisingly good about letting people into their country. They used to have what we called an "Iron Curtain" to keep people out. But now they seem anxious and willing to get acquainted with us. When a friend of mine went to Moscow he said he couldn't buy a meal for himself on the train because so many Russians wanted to entertain him and make him feel at home.

Getting acquainted with people who are a long way off and speak a different language isn't easy. But it's easier than fighting a war. And what all of us have to realize is that either we work at peace hard, very hard, or else we are going to have our water and electricity shut off, with crowded hospitals also shut off, in the worst war in history. Russia will face the same shutoffs and the same bombings, but they don't have so much electricity and so many people depending on modern conveniences as we do.

Well, that's a lot for a small boy to think about. But Easter time, when we are paying homage to him who taught us peace on earth, good will to men, is the time to think about the things he stood for, instead of spending too much time thinking about new clothes.

Give Georgie and Joe a big hug. Lots of love,
Your Grandfather

Jet Noises Vs. Power

In this very noisy civilization of ours, no one is likely to turn up as an advocate of more rather than less noise.

Thus one cannot say the plane makers and airlines should not do everything reasonable to muffle the noise of powerful jet aircraft which in little more than half a year will begin winging over world and domestic air routes.

Yet one thing should be understood. Jet planes are rated an advance for two reasons: high speed and greater power — power to carry bigger payloads farther than ever before. And the plane specialists say flatly that no way has yet been found to suppress jet noise without cutting back that power.

Of course no useful plane is without its built-in reserve of power. The question would seem to be how far it is safe and reasonable to go in reducing that reserve. Perhaps it is a matter not alone for noise-conscious city authorities to rule upon, but for the Civil Aeronautics Board.

Think It Through

—By E. F. Hutton

WHO GOT US INTO DEBT? — "Loans and debts make worries and frets," as the old proverb says.

My readers know I have said time and again, "Stop going into debt." It is no pleasure to say that this is now recognized as good advice. Not that I am a prophet. But I have lived longer, and have less faith in the boasts of politicians than most people.

For years the politicians have said, "The Government will never permit another recession." Millions believed them, and went head over heels in debt as long as pay-rolls were growing. This includes people supposed to be smart, such as company executives who over-expanded their plants and inventories.

Senator Harry F. Byrd never was taken in by the politicians' Pollyanna promises.

The storm flags were flying all the time, but as the BIBLE says, there are those having eyes yet see not.

In all these years of unprecedented prosperity, the Federal Government kept on increasing its debt, and now finds the cupboard bare, just like Old Mother Hubbard. Nothing was laid aside for a rainy day.

Now, with shorter hours, no overtime pay, and many lay-offs, the American people are due to pay out of reduced incomes $1 billion $'s of debt this year!

On the brighter side, millions of people believed the old proverb, and increased their assets — not their debts.

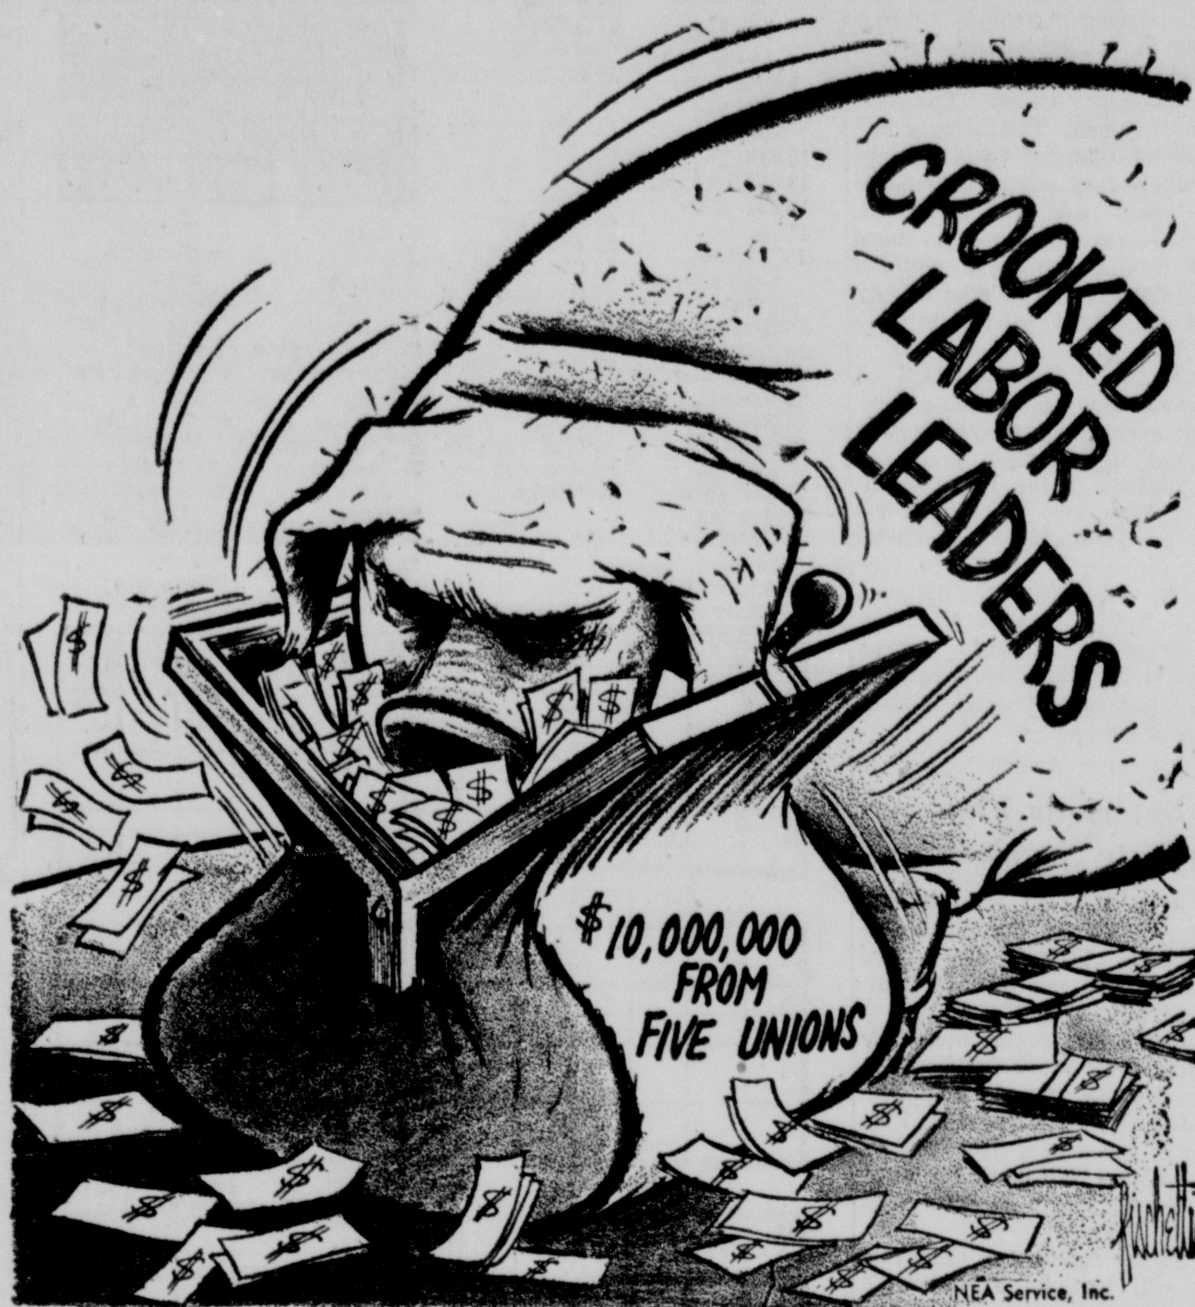

Because of them, perhaps we'll pull through.

Thought For Today

Rocks of Congress Await Ike's Plans

By JAMES MARLOW

WASHINGTON, Mo. — President Eisenhower's plan to streamline the armed forces stands a fine chance of being smashed on the rocks of Congress. He outlined it yesterday in a special message.

It avoids the extreme of creating a single, top military commander. But it would enormously increase the power of Defense Secretary McElroy, giving him more authority than any secretary ever had.

It would make better over-all military planning possible. But it's no cure-all. It doesn't seem to be the kind that could put a final stop to the notorious Army-Navy-Air Force rivalry for money, size, weapons and missions.

The plan would leave the Army, Navy and Air Force intact. But Eisenhower talked of "unified commands" that might have the effect of merging the three services to a far greater degree than appears in the message.

Just how far Eisenhower would go in "unified commands" isn't clear. Neither is the plan as a whole. It won't be spelled out in detail for 10 days or so, when McElroy sends Congress exact language for changing existing laws. Briefly, this is the present set-up and how Eisenhower would change it:

He made it clear he's fed up on the way the three services try to get what they want — through their individual publicity campaigns and the lobbying in Congress by the military brass. He'd curb the publicity.

And to put the lobbying under some kind of leash Eisenhower suggested a civilian be put in charge of dealings with Congress. Whether even that could stop the military lobbying would have to be proved.

The secretaries of the Army, Navy and Air Force — although they serve under McElroy and have lost much of their authority in recent years — still have a big fistful of power.

Eisenhower would reduce them pretty much to the role of caretakers while increasing McElroy's authority over them and the armed forces as a whole.

The top military planning is done by the Joint Chiefs of Staff — made up of the chiefs of staff of the Army, Navy and Air Force plus the staff chairman, who is a top military figure appointed by the President.

These chiefs of staff have a double chore: although as members of the JCS they are responsible for over-all planning, they are also responsible for their individual branches of the service.

Eisenhower suggests they shed some of this responsibility for their individual services — by delegating it to their assistants — in order to devote more time to planning.

This appears to be a compromise move, for proposals had been made to divorce the members of the JCS completely from their individual branches of the service, thus removing them from the arena of interservice rivalry.

Although many parts of the plan would increase McElroy's powers, it's the added power Eisenhower wants for him in handling money which may wreck the plan in Congress. It would let the individual services continue to ask for the money they need but — once Congress voted the money, McElroy would have the authority to shift it around when and if he saw fit. Congress has always been jealous of its power to vote money for only those specific purposes it approved.

This idea ran into fast opposition in Congress, even among some of Eisenhower's most influential Republicans.

Dr. Jordan Says

Determination And Diet Proper Way To Reduce

By Edwin P. Jordan, M. D.

Sometimes my overweight friends argue with the commonly accepted view that fat people are more likely to die young than those who are thin. They point to obese relatives or friends who lived long and healthy lives and to thinner ones who did not.

It is undoubtedly true that fatness is not the only cause of disease or death. But if one took 100 people who were overweight and compared them with 100 people of normal weight, the thinner group on the average would be healthier and live longer.

An overweight person is generally defined as one whose weight is more than ten per cent above the average for his age and height with allowance for hereditary or familiar characteristics.

One important study of this subject based on life insurance records indicates that the normal weight for persons between the ages of 25 and 30 is about ideal and should remain constant throughout life.

An excellent discussion of excess weight was recently published in the Journal of the American Medical Association.

"Magazines," this writer said, "continually skirt the edge of scientific knowledge with their advice on methods of weight reduction through the use of appetite-suppressing drugs."

"Beauty culture establishments entice the ladies with courses of massage, calisthenics, or dancing, each accompanied by diets which range from simple starvation to simple nonsense."

"Not to be outdone, the applicance builders advertise belts, girdles, supports and various mechanical reducers which, with the same promise of weight reduction, they sell our more corpulent brothers."

The desire to reduce is essential. There is a place for the appetite-reducing drugs, but they are limited and miracles cannot be expected from their use alone.

Proper eating is the answer to the problem of excess weight except for those exceedingly few whose obesity is the result of disease. It is now possible to lose weight without counting calorie intake, without being weak, hungry, irritable or constipated.

The general principles of weight reduction are based on how the body functions work.

The simplest to prepare and most easily obtainable reducing diet is one containing high-protein, high-fat and low-carbohydrate foods. This will produce the most rapid loss with the fewest symptoms; it is made up largely of meat, fat and water. The amount is relatively unimportant, but the ratio of three parts of lean to one of fat should be maintained since a lower fat proportion will slow the weight loss.

Few meats have enough natural fat to maintain this proportion, so that sometimes fried suet is added in the diet. Black coffee, clear tea and water can be used without restriction.

I do not think that this or any other diet, with or without appetite-depressing drugs, should be taken unless the patient is observed for the rate of weight loss and for individual circumstances which often arise.

However, except for the fact that this diet is somewhat expensive, there are no drawbacks.

Even Benny Was Serious

Truman Library Dramatizes The Offices of President

By Esther Van Wagner Tufty
Of Our Washington Bureau

INDEPENDENCE, Mo.—Former President Harry S. Truman said he would open the Truman Library on a Sunday morning and personally give Jack Benny and me "the 50-cent tour for nothing."

The large, low, sprawling building, which houses the papers and mementos of the Truman era, is located within an easy driving distance of Kansas City.

To any unprepared visitor the main concept of the Truman Library will be a stunning surprise. It is not dedicated to telling the Truman-the-Man story. The arrangement of the Truman material, at the insistence of the history-minded President, is to dramatize the office of the presidency.

The result is so impressive that even Jack Benny was not tempted to wisecrack.

Harry Truman didn't go to college. It's one of his great regrets. But he knows and enjoys American history more than many a history professor. That he knows "The Presidency" is obvious here in this library, which offers a history lesson for the many school children who come here.

Mr. Truman said: "The Presidency is the most unusual, most important, and least understood constitutional office in the history of the world, and it's really six jobs in one."

Six displays dramatize these different aspects of the President who is: the Chief Executive, Commander-in-Chief of the Armed Forces; Formulator of Foreign Policy; the ceremonial head; director of the legislative program, and leader of his political party.

Of special interest to me, as a Washington correspondent, was the replica of the oval executive office in the White House, where Harry Truman used to hold his press conferences. "The only thing missing is that big globe, but I am getting one of those," I expressed regret that the press conferences are no longer held right in front of the President's desk, and for the first time learned the reason. "Too many reporters ground out their cigarettes on the beautiful rug," he told me. (I don't smoke.)

A big portrait of President Dwight Eisenhower hangs in the Hall of Presidents, which has a picture of each President with some important paper, often in the President's own handwriting alongside it.

Harry Truman takes the office of the Presidency seriously, but not always himself in the role of President. So he delighted in showing us the political cartoons, even the unflattering ones. Prized, is the blown-up 1948 picture of the winning candidate, Truman, holding high the front page of The Chicago Tribune with its wrong headline: DEWEY DEFEATS TRUMAN.

Impishly, the President played the Black Hawk waltz on the piano presented to him by the National Press Club, and Jack Benny regretted he had not brought along his violin.

For an "unemployed man," this busy American has a king's ransom in gifts presented by leaders in foreign lands. A fabulous Persian rug from the Shah of Iran, an emerald and diamond-studded dagger from the Crown Prince of Saudi Arabia, a painting from Queen Juliana, a collection of Bibles, and objects of art galore.

Dominating one wall of the museum wing is an oil painting of Mrs. Martha E. Truman, one of the few mothers who saw her son become President of the United States. She lived to be 94.

Portraits and photographs of his "other two girls" are grouped together. There's a vacant space, beside Mrs. Truman and daughter Margaret, awaiting a picture of the President's only grandchild.

It's possible for Mr. Truman, well known for his brisk early morning strolls, to walk from the Library to his home, but this Sunday after the tour he drove us over to see "the boss" Bess Truman, always a First Lady.

As expected, Mrs. Truman was warm itself. The house and the furnishings are not elaborate, but reflect plenty of family good-living.

It was almost noon-time, and Mrs. Truman said she would insist on serving luncheon but she's the only cook. Like a good husband, Mr. Truman spoke right up in praise of her ability to cook, and with wifely gratitude she thanked him for washing the night-before dishes and putting on the morning coffee!

On the way to the airport, Jack Benny said it made him feel guilty that he had not only a cook but so many others working in his home that he doesn't always remember their names.

Which brought up the subject of whatever happened to that bill passed by the Senate to provide former Presidents with a $25,000 salary, a staff to answer all the mail they continue to receive (Mr. Truman's desk is piled high with letters) and the free franking privilege. The answer: nothing.

Thinking It Over

By Robert L. Diefenbacher, D.D.

Jesus was crucified by mob violence, though in the judgment before Pilate no evil could be found in Christ. Today on the anniversary of the Crucifixion there are still thousands of indifferent people who could be swayed by a crowd. They would join in the cry "Crucify Him," rather than testify to His power, His love and His innocence.

Those who bend their knees in humility before the rugged cross on Calvary today must do more than pray silently. They must live and speak their witness for Him who died that they might live. They must face the reality of what their silence means to God.

On this day of sorrows we must not only confess our sins, but also we must confess before men our belief in God and our faith in the power of God to lead mankind beyond Easter.

Matter of FACT

More than 2,000 years before Christ, both the Egyptians and Chinese learned to make a lasting black ink. They mixed lampblack or charcoal with glue or various gums. Water was added when the ink was to be used. Even today, the so-called China or India inks, used for drawing and for permanent records, are made on the same principle.

Vincent Tracy Life Is Shown On Television

By CHARLES MERCER

NEW YORK (AP)—"Alcoholism is not a disease," says Vincent Tracy. "With me it was a softening of my will, a loss of guts."

The remarkable fall and rise of Vincent Tracy will be dramatized on television this Sunday night when G.C. Theater (CBS-TV) presents Ronald Reagan in "No Hiding Place," based on Beth Day's book about Tracy's experience.

At 30 Tracy was a brilliant New York executive. At 35 he had drunk himself onto the Bowery. There, in the course of 18 months, he attempted suicide three times and was hospitalized for alcoholism 27 times. Today, at 46, Tracy is an ebullient teetotaler who is dedicating his life to helping other so-called incurable alcoholics.

At Tracy Farms in Ravena, N.Y., he has given more than 2,000 people a new lease on living. After the world pronounces someone a hopeless alcoholic, Tracy takes him—or her—to Ravena. ("No white-coated attendants following you around. Come and go as you like. Take a drink if you want to. But somehow people don't want to.")

His record of alcoholic cures, he says, is over 90 per cent.

In the course of a long discussion of alcoholism, Tracy said these things:

"I don't believe in prohibition because you can't legislate morality."

Recalls the Visit Of W. C. Handy

W. C. Handy, composer of the St. Louis Blues, who died last week, stopped off in Sedalia many years ago on his way to the East Coast. Tom Ireland, old time musician and a member of Scott Joplin's band at one time, recalls.

Handy stopped at the Maple Leaf Club Room having heard of the Negro band in Sedalia that was considered good and heard that there was going to be a band practice that night just across the street. When he finished eating Handy went over to get acquainted with the boys. That was some place in the mid 90's, Tom said.

Ed Gravitt was the leader of the band, and asked Handy to join them for the practice. Handy was on his way up then, nothing like he was when he died, of course,

Producer Coe Back at Work

By CHARLES MERCER

NEW YORK (AP)—After two years of sitting around doing practically nothing at NBC-TV, Fred Coe, one of the ablest creative talents in television, is at work as a producer for CBS-TV.

As the original producer of NBC's famous and extinct Television Playhouse, Coe helped to develop some of the medium's top writers and performers. He produced "Marty" and headed the TV staff that gave the nation Mary Martin in "Peter Pan." He was executive producer of Mr. Peepers and Producers' Showcase.

For reasons altogether strange, NBC-TV found nothing for him to do this season except to serve as production executive of "Annie, Get Your Gun." Coe, 43, has put the past year to good use, however. He produced his first movie, "The Left-Handed Gun," for Warner Brothers. And he produced his second Broadway show, the hit "Two for the Seesaw," starring Henry Fonda and Anne Bancroft.

Back in television once more, Coe's first assignment at CBS-TV will be to produce "The Red Mill" for Show of the Month from Hollywood April 19. Beginning in the fall he will produce several Playhouse 90 dramas.

Discussing the Victor Herbert operetta before he left for Hollywood, Coe said: "We're trying to assume how 'The Red Mill,' written in 1908, would be done today if it were a new show. Our ear for music has changed just as has our ear for words. Today Herbert music sounds lush and overly romantic."

"But it's basically excellent music with a distinct flavor. It merely needs an arrangement to make it completely modern."

"We're treating the story in the same way, changing it not because it's a bad story but to make it credible to modern tastes. We aren't doing either a period piece or a farcical comedy."

"The way we have chosen is to take the spirit and basic situation of the town that needs its legendary mill as a source of income from tourists—and develop how it's thwarted and how it's saved. We do it in a different way than the original, using the Brussels World's Fair nearby."

"The old story had a stark love story with stock characters. We've added a character—a guy with problems. I suppose you might say we're telling the same story by means of character development rather than situation."

The old guard of Victory Herbert fanatics, who object to change, may be pleasantly surprised.

said Tom, but he was known.

Gravitt gave him a book of cornet solos and asked him to pick out some numbers. He picked three. Handy evidently liked the music of Scott Joplin, originator of ragtime music, for the three he picked were "Sunflower Slow Drag" written by Scott Joplin and Scott Hayden, "The Maple Leaf Rag" and "Down Home Rag", Joplin's composition.

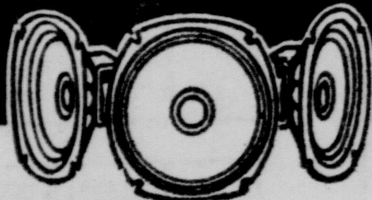

The Maple Leaf Club Room where Handy went first when he came to Sedalia for the night was operated by Walter Williams. The band had been Joplin's and it was in Sedalia that he wrote his first ragtime.

Money Good In Television Commercials

By BOB THOMAS

HOLLYWOOD (AP)—Ever wonder why movie stars make the pitch for commercial products on TV?

If so, Eva Gabor has the answer: "The money was so good, I couldn't pass it up. I could work a year on the stage and not earn as much as I did for a one-minute commercial."

This sounds a little exaggerated—the Gabor girls are exaggeration-prone—but it gives you an indication of the gold to be found in celebrity testimonials. Eva's case is an extreme example.

You can be sure that Eva is being paid royally to so disrupt her life. She wouldn't say how much, but it is obvious that the whole thing was a big production. Last week, she costarred with Noel Coward in a Saturday matinee of "Present Laughter" here. She hopped a sleeper plane for New York, rested on Sunday to be fresh for shooting. She spent all day Monday shooting the one-minute soap ad, flew back here that night and was on stage again Tuesday. Oh, yes, en route she studied the script for an hour drama she did on NBC's Matinee Theater.

"When I got to the studio, there was a big crew waiting for me," she said. "They had a big selection of lovely gowns cut down to here, but somehow it didn't seem right for me to be wearing one in the kitchen. I settled for my dressing robe."

"The morning's work was terrible. I got everything right but the name of the product. Finally, we had to quit for lunch and I worked until 5 before I got it right."

She said that exposure from such commercials is good publicitywise, if not overdone. She has done only one other—a cigarette ad "which I did because I needed some extra cash to finish a building I was putting up."

Besides getting the initial salary, actors who make the product pitch get a payment every time the commercial appears on TV. This can amount to thousands of dollars for one day's work, as in the case of Eva.

Disneyland Geared For Big Summer

By BOB THOMAS

HOLLYWOOD (AP)—Disneyland is gearing for its fourth big summer and has imported the Grand Canyon as an added attraction.

Arizona need not worry. The state's natural wonder hasn't been stolen, but a realistic replica has been created at the Anaheim pleasure park. Visitors enter a long tunnel via the Disneyland and Santa Fe Railway and view the whole panorama of the canyon, complete with native animals, thunderstorms and blazing sunset.

The illusion is created by a 306-foot diorama painted by the Disney artists. The premiere showing this week drew praise from the press and public alike.

"Walt Disney isn't going to stop there. He bought the rights to Ferde Grofe's "Grand Canyon Suite." His nature photographers have been shooting the canyon in all its phases. The result will be a film to accompany the descriptive music. It will be released in a package with the next Disney cartoon feature, "Sleeping Beauty".

Oscar winner Miyoshi Umeki has a sharp sense of humor. Asked her favorite American food, she replies, "Pizza." Now that she has made an American picture called "Sayonara," she thinks the logical sequence would be for her to make a Japanese picture called "Goodby."

Opponents Of Ike Plan Hit Spending

WASHINGTON (AP) — Opponents of President Eisenhower's defense reorganization plan centered their fire today on the military spending powers he proposed for the secretary of defense.

An Easter recess postponed until April 15 — one day after Congress returns — what shaped up as a major battle over the plan.

Some Congress members approved the plan; others criticized some of its features both as threatening the continuance of the Army, Navy and Air Force as such and as taking over congressional functions.

Eisenhower asked Congress to make appropriations, effective July 1, 1959, to the secretary of defense rather than specifically to the separate services. The secretary would be able to transfer funds among the various services.

Sen. Bridges (R-NH), senior Republican on the Senate Appropriations Committee, said that such action would practically abolish the services and amount to "a surrender on the part of Congress."

Congress long has held to its traditional power to decide how much money each service is to get.

Rep. Kilday, (D-Tex.) noting that defense money makes up nearly two thirds of the annual budget, said giving control of such an amount to one man "is probably greater economic power than should be possessed by one individual."

He added in a later interview: "One thing is sure — the man who controls the money is the boss."

Chairman Russell (D-Ga.) of the Senate Armed Services Committee said he will support whatever steps are necessary to give the secretary administrative authority in the Defense Department, but added:

"I shall not favor any legislation that will destroy the identity of our armed forces."

Stations Getting Satellite Signals

WASHINGTON (AP) — Ground stations are receiving regular radio reports from five of the six transmitters in three American satellites now circling the earth.

Soon after the Army's Explorer III went into orbit March 26, radio tracking stations found difficulty in getting regular reports from the tiny tape recorder built into its nose.

At one time, it was thought the relatively unusual shape of Explorer's orbit was to blame. But Navy scientists said today most of the trouble was located in a triggering device activated by ground receiving stations.

Scientific information also is being received from a conventional transmitter in Explorer III.

The larger of two transmitters in Explorer I, launched by the Army Jan. 31, failed after a few weeks when its battery burned out, as expected. The second transmitter in Explorer I continues to send out signals, and is expected to do so for about a month longer.

Rains Soak San Joaquin Valley Again

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — Rains splashed on soggy California again today, threatening to spill more river waters on to the crop-rich flatlands of the San Joaquin Valley.

California was drenched from Mexico to Oregon but the main danger to crops appeared to be in that lush Central Valley between Stockton and Bakersfield.

All three Southern Pacific Railroad routes in the valley were cut as well as the coastal route and all SP trains between San Francisco and Los Angeles were halted.

Gov. Goodwin J. Knight asked President Eisenhower to declare the entire state a major disaster area and make available federal funds.

The governor estimated damage to roads, bridges and levees at 12 million dollars.

That did not include the unestimated millions of dollars in crop damage.

Alfalfa stands, vineyards and orchards were hard hit and farmers feared for several thousand acres of foothill grain.

The Red Cross established nine shelters throughout the state—the largest at Stockton, where 1,100 persons fled from a residential area threatened by high water in Mormon Slough.

The SP had to detour its east-west trains between San Francisco and Chicago over the Western Pacific's tracks in the Feather River. SP's rails in the Sierra Nevada were blocked by snow avalanches that partially derailed a mail train.

U.S. Highways 40 and 50—the main east-west links—were closed by snow slides, although one-way traffic was moving on Alternate 40 through the Feather River Canyon.

An estimated 500 travelers and skiers remained at Sierra lodges and ski resorts. An attempt to fly milk to stranded children at the Donner Summit Lodge failed, when the pilot was forced to turn back. The youngest child was 8 and there was ample food.

The death toll attributed to the storm reached nine—five in northern California and four in southern California. The ninth victim was Edna Breen, 62, of Santa Cruz, south of San Francisco. Her body washed ashore near there.

Torrential rains whipped by gale winds pelted southern California forcing scores of families to flee, toppling hundreds of trees and downing power lines.

The Navy warned that tides two to three feet above normal with waves 15 to 30 feet and occasionally 40 feet threatened the Pacific Coast from Santa Barbara northward along the California and Oregon coast.

There was no official tally on how many persons fled their homes. Unofficial estimates placed the figure well into the thousands.

Family Killing Admission Poses Legal Problem

NCHORAD, Alaska (AP) — An oral admission by a 13-year-old boy that he killed his mother, his brother and his sister in a fit of anger left Anchorage police and territorial officials wrestling with an involved legal problem today.

Under territorial law, according to U.S. Commissioner David R. Daines, a person under 16 years of age cannot be charged with a crime. Daines also said jurisdiction could not be waived by U.S. District Court here.

Robert L. Courtney, son of a prominent Anchorage businessman, told police after his capture Wednesday night he shot Mrs. Jesse Courtney, Jesse Jr., 9, and Bonnie Lowell, 7, after a quarrel with his mother.

Mrs. Courtney was killed outright in the front yard of the Courtney home as she tried to run from her young son and the rifle he had obtained in the basement of the home. He told officers he shot his brother and sister because "once I got started shooting I couldn't stop."

The boy said the quarrel developed after he told his mother he planned to quit working in his father's sheetmetal shop. He went for the gun, he told police, when his mother indicated she was going to whip him with a belt.

The boy's father was in Seattle when Mrs. Courtney and the two children were slain.

Three Rare Cranes Leave Texas Grounds

USTIN, Tex. (AP) — Three of 26 rare whooping cranes left their Texas nesting grounds yesterday on their 2,500-mile annual journey to their summer home in Canada.

Claude Lard, manager of the Aransas National Refuge near Austin, Tex., said the cranes' departure was eight days earlier than last year.

The 26 white whoopers—with jet black wing tips, red head coverings and long protruding legs—winter at the Gulf Coast refuge. Four others are in captivity. It is against the law to kill a whooper.

Two adults and a year-old whooper started the trip for the Wood Hole National Park area in Canada, Lard said.

An aerial and ground survey showed three cranes missing yesterday after a check Wednesday showed all were present.

Magistrate Court

Edmond Cook, Independence, pleaded guilty to a charge of careless and imprudent driving by failing to maintain proper control of his car and allowing it to weave back and forth on Highway 50.

He was fined $100 and costs and sentenced to 30 days in the Pettis County jail by Judge Frank Armstrong. Trooper Richard Joos of the Highway Patrol gave testimony which indicated Cook had been drinking to the extent that he created a hazard on the highway when he was apprehended Thursday and taken to the county jail. He was stopped between Dresden and LaMonte after Joos noticed his car weaving on the highway.

Bunker Hill Troops

More than one-half of the American troops who fought at Bunker Hill were New Hampshire men under the leadership of John Stark.

Accidents

A man and boy escaped injury about 6:15 p. m. Thursday in a one-vehicle accident on U. S. Highway 50 about five miles west of Sedalia. Damage to the 1950 Ford pickup truck was not extensive.

The truck was driven east by Eldon L. Williams, 400 North Grand who was accompanied by Harold Lee Dohage, 14, of Kansas City.

According to Trooper Richard Stockell of the Highway Patrol, Williams reported he had pulled out to the center to see if the highway was clear to pass a car in front of him. He then saw two cars, one passing another, and in pulling back into the right lane, his right wheels left the pavement and went onto the soft shoulder. In pulling back he lost control of the truck and it struck a drainage spillway and skidded around to face the west, then rolled easily over on its top.

The two were able to get a door open to get out of the vehicle. Chamberlain's wrecker was called and after it was righted, Williams was able to drive it on to Sedalia.

Fires In the City

The Sedalia Fire Department was called to 612 West Fifth at 3:20 p. m. Thursday where a fire caused by a short in a television caused slight damage to the home of Ernest Hopper.

Police Reports

Ben Dial, Nelson, Mo., reported to the police the theft of a new tire, tube and wheel and one old tire, a log chain, two shovels, two new axes, and a new level were stolen off his truck while parked on the M. F. A. parking lot sometime during the past two days.

Donald Hopkins, Route 2, Sedalia, reported to the police the loss of his Missouri license No. Z14-205 sometime Tuesday.

A short change artist picked up $20 in Sedalia Thursday when he worked the short change racket on a cashier at the Bing's Market on East Broadway for $10 and another $10 at the Richardson's Cafe on West Broadway.

A description of the man, his car and dress were obtained and given to the police.

Lorene Hoerman, Smithton, reported the theft of her 1949 Chevrolet at her home sometime about 7 o'clock Thursday evening. The car was later recovered in Smithton when the thieves drove it into the yard of Melvin Zimmerman, in Smithton, about 10:35 p.m.

Police found a window at the Cal Rodgers station open at 10:25 p.m. Thursday. It was closed by the officer.

Police found a window at the Doty's service station on West Broadway open at 10:35 p.m. Thursday. The owner was notified.

An alley door at the Hargrove Adv. Co. on West Second was found open by the police at 11:02 p.m. The manager was notified.

A window at the O'Connor Motor Co., Fourth and Kentucky, was found open by the police at 1:50 a.m. The night man was notified and closed it.

Police Court

One overtime parker forfeited a $1 cash bond and 18 others paid the 25-cent fee.

Earl Duched Embree, 1403 East Fifth, charged with being intoxicated and disturbing the peace of his sister was fined $15 and sentenced to 15 days in jail. He pleaded guilty. Judge Morris gave him a stay on the jail sentence on good behavior.

Youth Suffers Injury

SALT LAKE CITY (AP) — Fifteen-year-old Robert Henderson last night made himself a rocket out of sulfur, powdered sugar and other stuff, put it in the backyard incinerator to ignite it, but nothing happened. So he took it in the kitchen to investigate and it exploded. Dep. Sheriff Elmer Leake said the youth suffered lacerations of stomach and hands and was placed under the care of the family doctor.

Bitter Strike At Kohler In Fifth Year

KOHLER, Wis. (AP) — The bitter strike at the Kohler Co., entangled in issues and personalities, begins its fifth year tomorrow with prospects of a settlement growing dimmer.

The nation's oldest major labor dispute, the strike has developed into a grinding of the energies of the plumbingware firm and the power of the million-member United Auto Workers.

The principles grimly defended by each side were underscored recently before the Senate Rackets Committee.

"We will not bargain with a gun at our back," a company officer said.

"The company position has been not to settle the strike, but to break the union," a UAW official testified.

Both sides were described as "pretty obstinate" by Committee Chairman McClellan (D-Ark.).

Also recorded in the past 12 months were the collapse of a mediation effort by three prominent clergymen, a determination by a National Labor Relations Board examiner that the company prolonged the strike by unfair labor practices, and a rejection by the firm of a UAW offer to settle on the basis of the examiner's findings.

Just last month there was a renewal of the sporadic vandalism that has been linked to the strike.

The strike began when an estimated 2,600 members of Local 833 refused to work in a dispute over union security, wages and fringe benefits. The firm has been in production with nonstrikers and new workers since two months after the strike started.

In an appearance before the McClellan committee, Herbert V. Kohler, 66-year-old company president, said the issue now is "compulsory unionism," and the UAW demand that strikers be reinstated. Kohler has insisted he will not displace present workers with strikers.

The next important development is expected when the NLRB acts on the company's appeal of the examiner's findings.

Kiwanis Club Has Observance Of Holy Week

The program theme for Sedalia Kiwanis Club was observance of Holy Week at the meeting in Bothwell Hotel Thursday noon.

The Holy Week message was delivered by the Rev. Elmer L. Hobbs, pastor of the First Methodist Church, and club member. He emphasized that Jesus Christ is the wisest and keenest teacher in all human history, and is the only social hope of a distressed world. After 1900 years his teachings are imperishable and have not required modification or change in the sense that other philosophies and science have. Furthermore, every aspect of human living and education have felt the impact of his teachings.

John Ryan, program chairman, presented the speaker.

Russell Maag sang a solo, "The Holy City," with Miss Lillian Fox as accompanist.

Dr. Reinhold Fischer who has been active in the club for over 25 years was presented an International Certificate of Loyalty and recognition pin by the Rev. Edward R. Sims, president.

An interlude in the program was devoted to the organization of the entire membership into four teams for an attendance contest.

Invocation was by Dr. A. J. Campbell.

Robert Gardner was a guest of Jack Crawford.

Must Make Up Time Lost In Bomb Scare

HARRISBURG, Pa. (AP) — The practical joker who won the 750 pupils at Feaster Elementary School in nearby Middletown a half holiday yesterday didn't do them any favor.

Someone called Principal E. R. Bartel to report that a bomb would go off at 1:20 p.m. Bartel dismissed classes for the day at 1 p.m.

School Supt. George W. Feaster said, after police searched the building and found no bomb, that the half day would have to be made up at the end of the term.

Good Friday Service At Immanuel Church

Good Friday Service will be held tonight at Immanuel Evangelical and Reformed Church (United Church of Christ) at 7:30. The sermon theme of Pastor A. F. Klemme will be "The One Who Died." Norman Witthaus, a final year student at Eden Theological Seminary, Webster Groves, will serve as liturgist. The Sacrament of the Lord's Supper will be administered at the altar.

County NFO Chapter Sets Regular Meets

The Pettis County chapter of the National Farmers Organization (NFO) met at the county courthouse Thursday night and decided to hold a meeting there on the first Monday night of every month. Albert Anderson, chairman of the Pettis County Chapter, presided.

Reports from Henry Van Tyle, legislative representative of the NFO in Washington, were read on efforts being put forth to get farm price supports frozen at the same level as 1957. A bill freezing price supports has since been passed by Congress and vetoed by President Eisenhower.

Chairman Anderson reported that membership in the NFO has nearly reached last year's mark of 422, and that it is expected to surpass that number before the next meeting.

Largest Non-Atomic

CAMPBELL RIVER, B.C. (AP) — The largest nonatomic blast man has ever touched off is scheduled to liquidate Ripple Rock as a shipping menace tomorrow, weather permitting.

Engineers will detonate 2½ million pounds of high explosive in a network of tunnels in Ripple Rock.

The explosion is expected to rip 370,000 tons of rock off the twin-domed submarine mountain whose top lies just below the surface of the water at mean low tide in Seymour Narrows, between Vancouver Island and the mainland 100 miles north of Vancouver, B.C.

Sedalia Man

The fireman on the diesel was J. A. Gilmore of Jefferson City and the conductor in charge of the train was George Brannan, St. Louis.

Brandkamp was knocked from the overpass to the pavement of the highway below, a distance of about 18 feet.

The body was removed to the Ewing Funeral Home.

Dr. Stauffer said an inquest was not necessary as it was evident Brandkamp had been on the overpass.

Brandkamp was born at Hughesville on Aug. 21, 1930.

Surviving him are his mother, Mrs. Nellie Schlons; his stepfather, Dan Schlons; five brothers, Robert and Johnny of the home, Lawrence of Marshall, George "Buck" Brandkamp of Texas, and Charles who is in the Marines overseas; four sisters, Mrs. Anna Lee Hill of Iowa, Mrs. James Howard and Mrs. Bessie Crews, Kansas City and Mrs. Dean Vinson, 28th and Washington; a half brother, David Eugene Schlons, of the home; and a half-sister, Mrs. Gilbert Looten, Jefferson City.

His father, the late Ben Brandkamp, died Nov. 16, 1947.

Venturi Has Come of Age On the Links

AUGUSTA, Ga. (AP)—The scene was the same but the principal actor was different today as the world's greatest golfers swung into the second round of the Masters Tournament.

Ken Venturi, it seems, definitely has come of age.

"How does it feel to be leading the first round?" the lean, good-looking San Francisco youngster was asked after he had posted a 4-under-par 68 for a one-stroke edge.

"The lead means nothing now," he replied coldly. "There are 54 holes to play."

"How about your being picked as favorite? Does it mean any added pressure for you?"

"Only if you take yourself too seriously," Venturi answered. "You don't beat these fellows with press clippings."

Two years ago, Venturi, then a damp-headed amateur of 24, shot a 66 to lead the first round of the tournament no amateur ever has won. He led the second day and the third. Then the roof fell in. He skidded to a harrowing last-round 80, and pro Jack Burke Jr. sneaked through to the championship.

"I am older now," Venturi said. "I guess I was a little cocky then. I am no longer cocky, but I am confident. There's a difference."

Sixteen players are bracketed within three shots of Venturi—the greatest array ever to break par on a single day in the Masters. The sprawling 6,900-yard Augusta National course, which has defied the best, plays a par of 36-36-72.

Tied at 68 are Norman Von Nida, Sydney, Australia; Jimmy Demaret, three-time winner of this title; bull-shouldered Chick Harbert, former PGA champion; and Bo Wingner, Odessa, Tex.

At 70 was the formidable trio of Cary Middlecoff, ex-Masters champion and twice National open king; Arnold Palmer, a young Latrobe, Pa., pro; and 45-year-old Flory Van Donck, Belgian who has been winning European titles for years.

The 71 bracket includes amateur Bill Hyndman III, Abington, Pa.; Jack Fleck, ex-champions Byron Nelson and Claude Harmon; current PGA champion Lionel Hebert; Robert de Vicenzo; Fred Hawkins; Billy Maxwell; and Art Wall Jr.

Ben Hogan and Sam Snead were in a cluster of 14 tied at even par 72. Doug Ford, the defending champion, was well back at 74. Koichi Ono and Torakichi Nakamura of Japan lost their fabulous putting touch and trailed at 74 and 76.

Taylor Wins Job With Athletics On Mound Staff

WEST PALM BEACH, Fla. (AP)—A 22-year-old right-hander who has pitched a grand total of just 93 innings in professional baseball apparently has won a job with the Kansas City Athletics.

He's Harry Taylor, signed by the A's off the University of Texas campus last summer.

Taylor wasn't impressive, to put it charitably, in his professional debut. He pitched 74 innings for Little Rock of the Class AA Southern Assn., and finished with a 4-7 record. Worst of all, he walked 41 batters in 74 innings and had a 5.74 earned run average.

He also pitched nine innings with the Athletics last season, allowing 11 hits and 3 earned runs.

So this spring, Taylor was invited to train with the A's but he was considered certain of drawing an assignment to one of the team's farm clubs.

Now with the season opener, Taylor is almost sure to go north with the team.

Taylor shut out Detroit for four innings in his last appearance. He allowed only one hit, but that base runner was erased on a double play, and Taylor faced only 12 batters.

The young right-hander was far from satisfied with his work.

"I was just lucky, but I can pitch better than that and I don't mean to brag."

Taylor's spring record supports his claim. In 13 innings, he has allowed six hits and five earned runs. He's struck out four and walked only two.

Carmen Basilio Looks Like Himself Again

CHICAGO (AP)—Carmen Basilio, looking like himself again, today was to leave the hospital after being treated nine days for an eye injury.

Basilio's left eye became swollen, discovered bulge when Sugar Ray Robinson dethroned him as middleweight champion in their thrilling 15-round battle in Chicago Stadium March 25.

Dr. Richard Perritt, eye specialist, said Basilio's eye had made excellent recovery and the former champion could fight again when he chooses.

Basilio planned to leave by train for Syracuse, N. Y., later today.

Ned Garver Ready For A's Opener

WEST PALM BEACH, Fla. (AP)—Ned Garver said yesterday his back is sound again, and Kansas City Manager Harry Craft promptly announced that the veteran will start the season opener for the A's.

Garver was treated roughly by the Pittsburgh Pirates in yesterday's exhibition, allowing five runs and 10 hits in five innings. The Pirates won 9-7.

But the 32-year-old right-hander said his back, injured recently in another exhibition game, didn't trouble him. Garver will start against Cleveland in the April 15 season opener at Cleveland.

Mike Baxes, who has won the second base job with the A's, sat out yesterday's game with a minor hand injury. He was replaced by Billy Hunter.

Orioles Add Good Batting To Abilities

By ED WILKS
The Associated Press

The good-pitch, good-field Baltimore Orioles finally have come around to belting the ball, the one item that checked their surprising surge at .500 and fifth place last season in the American League.

After losing four in a row on the exhibition trail, the Orioles busted out with 25 hits yesterday and swept a double-header from the Cleveland Indians 10-5 and 11-10. They had scored only 10 runs in the losing string.

What they needed, it turned out, was a crack at ex-Oriole Don Ferrarese, the young left-hander swapped to the Indians this week.

Ferrarese left after two innings with an 8-1 deficit in the opener. Jack Harshman worked five innings in the seven inning opener and drove in four runs with three singles while giving up two of the Tribe runs.

Brooks Robinson belted a third homer of the spring for the Birds while Joe Ginsberg and Foster Costelan hit their first. Rocky Colavito rapped a pair for the Indians, who blew a 4-1 lead in the nightcap.

The Los Angeles Dodgers scored a 5-3 decision over the Milwaukee Braves. Charlie Neal hit two homers and rookie Dick Gray one of the Dodgers, who built a 4-2 lead against Warren Spahn. Del Rice and Eddie Mathews homered for the Braves, but Clem Labine was steady in relief to save it for Fred Kipp.

A walk, Nellie Fox's single and Ted Beard's ground ball broke a 3-all tie for the Chicago White Sox in the seventh for a 4-3 victory over the St. Louis Cardinals.

Pittsburgh blew a 5-2 lead, then came from behind on Jim Pendleton's three-run homer off Arnie Portocarrero in the seventh for a 9-7 victory over Kansas City. Washington tagged southpaw Harvey Haddix for three runs in the first four frames, but had to settle for a 3-3, rain-called tie after 12 innings against Cincinnati.

Ernie Banks and Dale Long homered for the Chicago Cubs and drove in seven runs between them in a 10-5 victory over San Francisco. Bobby Thomson, swapped for the Cubs' Bob Speake yesterday, had two singles in three trips, while Speake grounded out and walked for the Giants.

Rain canceled Boston-New York and Philadelphia-Detroit.

Cards Counting On Mexican Pinch Hitter

BEAUMONT, Tex. (AP)—A newcomer whom the St. Louis Cardinals are counting on for pinch hitting help is Ben Valenzuela, former Mexican soccer star who gives himself pep talks while at bat.

Valenzuela had two of the Cardinals' eight hits as the Redbirds were beaten by the Chicago White Sox 4-3 at Pensacola yesterday. One of them was a two-run single.

"You have to like the kid," said Manager Fred Hutchinson. "When he swings at a bad pitch, he says, 'no swing, Bennie,' or if he hits it good, he smiles and says 'nice going, Bennie.'"

Valenzuela hit 24 home runs and drove in 90 runs last year for Houston of the Texas League.

Judges Ray Keach and Joe Ullmer scored it 47-46 for Valdes. Referee Don Perko gave the nod to Bethea 47-45.

Valdes weighed 206 and Bethea 204. The 32-year-old Cuban's record now is 32 victories, 16 defeats and 2 draws. Bethea, 26, is 17-8-2.

Betha was unmarked after the fight. Valdes' right eye was swollen and his nose reddened. It trickled blood from the eighth round until the end of the fight.

Betha claimed he slipped when Valdes knocked him down in the seventh. "That was no knock-down," Bethea said. Perko ruled it was. It appeared to ringsiders the Valdes belted the New Yorker with a vicious right.

Valdes Wins Split Decision Over Bethea

DENVER (AP)—Nino Valdes, veteran Cuban heavyweight, knocked down Wayne Bethea for the first time in his career on the way to a split decision over the New Yorker in a 10-round fight last night.

Judges Ray Keach and Joe Ullmer scored it 47-46 for Valdes. Referee Don Perko gave the nod to Bethea 47-45.

Valdes weighed 206 and Bethea 204. The 32-year-old Cuban's record now is 32 victories, 16 defeats and 2 draws. Bethea, 26, is 17-8-2.

Tigers Pin Hopes on Martin To Solve Shortstop Problem

LAKELAND, Fla. (AP)—Billy Martin is the former New York Yankee second baseman who hits 260 but plays like a .360 hitter.

He's also the fellow who threw a birthday party in a night club for Yankee teammates and was traded to Kansas City when the party's aftermath was held in court.

Now he's the fellow whom Detroit Manager Jack Tighe hopes will lead a disappointing Tiger team into pennant contention in the American League race.

Pepperpot Martin usually has an answer to everything. Tighe hopes he has the answer to the Tiger shortstop problem which will en-

Says Arkansas Relays Of Olympic Calibre

FAYETTEVILLE, Ark. (AP)—Two mighty athletes from the University of Arkansas and a relay team from Oklahoma State University will make the Arkansas Relays here tomorrow a track meet of Olympic calibre.

Broad Jumper Ernie Shelby of the Jayhawk team, a consistent 26-foot leaper, is edging toward the world mark of 26 feet, 8 1/4 inches set in 1935 by the magnificent Jesse Owens.

That mark, incidentally, is the oldest record in track and field books right now.

Kansas' Al Oerter was the 1956 Olympic champion in the discus and has thrown the platter 138 feet. Fortune Gordien's world discus mark is 196 feet, 6 inches.

Oerter, also a standout in the shot, has thrown the heavy ball 57 feet.

The Oklahoma State 880-yard relay team has a clocking of 40.3, only two-tenths off the world mark, to its credit.

Kansas, OSU, Pittsburg (Kan.) State and Tulsa are competing in the university division. Separate events are planned for freshmen and junior colleges and high schools.

Station Operator Admits Dynamite Blast

ATLANTA (AP)—A 34-year-old service station operator admitted setting off a dynamite blast at the Fulton County Juvenile Home in an attempt to free a young boy, police reported.

Capt. R. E. Little said Hubert Lasseter Jr. already was under $1,000 bond on a warrant charging that he contributed to the delinquency of the same 14-year-old.

Lasseter told police he resorted to dynamite in the blast early Sunday after telephone threats that a bomb had been placed at the detention home failed to bring out his young friend. He said he had promised to help the youth to freedom.

Texas Giving Food In 58 Counties

AUSTIN, Tex. (AP)—The State Department of Public Welfare said yesterday 58 counties are handing out free food to 139,211 persons.

"There has been no sharp trend upward" in distribution of federal surplus food to the unemployed, but 13 counties have been added to the list in the past six months.

W. E. Moore, assistant director of the division of commodity distribution said,

James Gavlilan Bout Described 'A Pay Day'

PHILADELPHIA (AP)—Tonight's television fight spectacular featuring Kid Gavilan and Ralph (Tiger) Jones might best be described in the fight vernacular — "a pay day."

Even fight promoter Herman Taylor probably will concede the odds are against him.

The show is bucking a pair of religious holidays — Good Friday and the Jewish Passover. It matches two gladiators who in the fight business might best be described as "old folks." It matches an unranked welterweight against an unranked middleweight proving nothing insofar as rankings are concerned.

And if that isn't enough, Gavilan's last appearance in Philadelphia is a memory fight fans would rather, but probably have not, forgotten. That was the October 1954 bout in which the Cuban Keed lost his welterweight crown to Johnny Saxton. The decision was controversial although the consensus was that both fighters lost.

The Cuban whipped the Tiger from Yonkers, N.Y., in 1953, when Gavilan was one of the classiest fighters around. Last February, the 30-year-old Jones, a rough, tough club fighter, gained revenge in Miami.

Gavilan, who still dreams of regaining the old touch and fire, has won 105 fights, lost 29 and fought in one no decision.

Physician Seeks Proof That Fat Diet Is Desirable

MONTREAL (AP)—A Montreal physician, veteran of 17 trips to the arctic, has left on another expedition to the North seeking evidence among the Eskimos to support his theory that a high-fat diet is desirable rather than dangerous.

Dr. Ray Lawson, 43, labels unproved a current idea that eating lost of fat is a major cause of heart and arterial diseases.

He is one of a seven-man government medical-dental team which will travel 15,000 miles examining and treating the nomadic tribes of the Victoria Island region northwest of Hudson Bay.

He aims to investigate particularly the eating "abils of the Back River tribe — as yet virtually untouched by the white man's influence.

"These Eskimos are especially important because their entire diet consists of food they kill, a diet which I have reason to believe is high in fat content," he said in an interview.

For more than a year Dr. Lawson's diet has supplied 90 per cent of his calories from fat.

He recently told a meat-packing convention in Toronto: "No one will quarrel with insurance statistics, accurate and quantitative, that show fat people die sooner, but this does not prove that eating fats makes one fat. In my own limited observation, fat eaters do not gain weight."

The fact that cholesterol—a type of fat—is found around arteries afflicted with hardening is no indication high fat consumption is a cause, he added.

Suffers Small Bump In Light Plane Crash

HOUSTON, Tex. (AP)—Robert T. Mumme Jr., 30, was flying from Houston to Lake Charles, La., when his generator and radio went out.

Visibility was poor, he said, and he narrowly missed a power line when he tried to come down in the dark Wednesday night.

Sugar Ray's Reconquest Is Honored

NEW YORK (AP)—Sugar Ray Robinson's reconquest of the middleweight championship earned the New York marvel the "Fighter of the Month" honor in the monthly Ring Magazine boxing ratings released today.

Robinson's victory over Carmen Basilio, featherweight king Hogan (Kid) Bassey's successful title defense against Mexico's Ricardo (Little Bird) Moreno and other bouts in the past month resulted in a shuffling of the ratings in most divisions.

The middleweight division, in particular, saw several shifts. Basilio took over Robinson's No. 1 spot among the contenders. Holy Mims' upset over Spider Webb moved Mims, of Washington, back into the elite 10 at the No. 7 spot. Webb, of Chicago, fell from third to sixth. Charley Humez of France advanced from fifth to third and Rory Calhoun of White Plains, N. Y., was boosted from sixth to fifth.

Light heavyweight champion Archie Moore, who has been banging heavyweights for "walking around" money, was boosted back into the heavyweight list.

Ole Archie was given the No. 4 position and undefeated Roy Harris of Cut and Shoot, Tex., moved from fourth to fifth. Pat McMurry of Tacoma, Wash., was knocked out of the top 10.

In the light heavy division, New York's Tony Anthony, who stopped Canada's Yvon Durelle, was promoted from fourth to second, and the Canadian was dropped from second to fourth. Yolande Pompey of Trinidad, stopped by middleweight Calhoun, fell from third to seventh.

Victories by Virgil Akins over Isaac Logart, Sugar Hart over Tombstone Smith, and young Mickey Crawford over Gil Turner, brought these changes in the welterweight class.

Logart, of Cuba, fell from second to third in an exchange with Vince Martinez of Paterson, N.J.; Hart of Philadelphia, advanced from 10th to fifth; Turner, of Philadelphia, dropped from sixth to seventh; Crawford, of Saginaw, Mich., was ranked for the first time in the No. 9 position, and Mexico's Gaspar Ortega advanced from seventh to fourth.

Claims Giants Not Yet Through Making Deals

PHOENIX, Ariz. (AP)—Manager Bill Rigney says the San Francisco Giants still aren't through angling for deals to improve the club before the April 15 start of the National League campaign.

"I have a couple of ideas," he said shortly after the club announced that veteran right-handed outfielder Bobby Thompson had been traded to the Chicago Cubs for left-handed hitting Bob Speake.

Rigney didn't divulge what those ideas might be except to say additional pitching strength might be among them.

Earlier, the Giants sent reserve catcher Ray Katt to the St. Louis Cardinals in exchange for left-handed outfielder Jim King.

Until the acquisition of Speake and King, the Giants had only 3 left-handed hitters on the club—rookie Willie Kirkland and veterans Whitey Lockman and Dusty Rhodes.

San Francisco wound up its Cactus League operations yesterday. Chicago Cub rookie Glen Hobbie beat them 10-5 with shortstop Ernie Banks and first baseman Dale Long providing the power.

Final record in the Arizona exhibition games for the Giants was 15-8, which gave them the Cactus League championship.

Lane Blasts Busch Setup

Cards Depend On Old Hands To Carry Load In '58 Play

ST. PETERSBURG, Fla. (NEA)—For 25 years, Cardinal training camps were loaded with good young players. Each year there was an Enos Slaughter or a Whitey Kurowski ready to play.

But all this is gone now. Outside of a pitcher or two, Curtis Flood, 20-year-old Negro third baseman, is the only bright prospect here at the Redbirds' Al Lang Field. And young Flood, who is on the small side and batted only .299 for Savannah of the Sally League last season, was obtained from the Reds in the Willard Schmidt trade. The comedown for the Cardinals is hard to believe.

"The Busch interests want to conduct a real dignified operation," explained Frank Lane, who quit to become general manager of the Indians. "You can't spend all your working hours writing reports and be out in the field looking for ballplayers at the same time."

"When the Cards had it, there would be scouts every place and an Eddie Dyer or Billy Southworth managing in the minors. Now they want bookkeepers."

Once again the Red Birds, second by eight lengths last year, are banking on old pros — the great Stan Musial, 37; Alvin Dark, 35, and Del Ennis, 33.

In Branch Rickey's time, St. Louis peddled stars and only had to reach into his far-flung chain to come up with a Pepper Martin or a Musial. The Cardinals last

Auto Bargaining Talks

Recess for Easter

DETROIT — Collective bargaining in the auto industry was in recess on all fronts today until after the Easter holidays.

General Motors and the International Electrical Workers Union recessed their talks yesterday until April 14 after the union completed presentation of its profit-sharing and other demands.

Negotiators for GM and the United Auto Workers will return to the bargaining table Tuesday, when the company is expected to renew an offer to extend the wage formula in the present contract.

This provides an annual productivity increase of 6 cents an hour.

The UAW will resume negotiations at Ford April 11 and at Chrysler April 15.

Easter's Untold Stories

Marvelous Event of Easter Morning Brought Faith to A Skeptical Soldier

EDITOR'S NOTE: Drawn in part from books outside the Christian canon, this is the story of the Resurrection told from the viewpoint of the Roman sergeant assigned as guard of the tomb. It is the last in a series on minor actors in the great Easter drama.

By GEORGE CORNELL
Associated Press Religion Writer

It grew chilly as the night wore on. The Roman sergeant tossed more sticks on the campfire and stood warming his hands. Another soldier sat cross-legged, a sheep-skin over his shoulders, munching a slab of cheese.

Their spears leaned against a square-shaped tent, pitched in a private grove outside Jerusalem where the crucified Nazarene had been entombed.

With the toe of his boot, the sergeant listlessly nudged some scattered coals back into the fire. He yawned, stretched his arms. In an isolated spot like this, guard duty was particularly monotonous.

The watch had been maintained since late on the sixth day of last week. With the provincial Sabbath over at sunset, it now was near midnight in the new week's first day.

To begin with, there had been quite a stir about the assignment. The sergeant had been on post at the procurator's quarters when the Sadducean priests came to Pilate about it.

"Sir," they fretted, "we remember how that impostor said while He was still alive, 'After three days I will rise again.' Therefore order the sepulchre made secure until the third day."

As the worried politicians put it, the Nazarene's followers might come and steal His body and then spread reports He had risen from the dead. "The last fraud will be worse than the first," the priests insisted.

"Go make it as secure as you can," Pilate consented peevishly. For the first night, and through most of the Sabbath, he supplied nearly a whole platoon—30 men under a centurion. About 1,000 people—mostly idlers—had wandered out yesterday to stare and make jests. But by late afternoon the place was deserted, and with public curiosity waning, guard had been reduced to a regular two-man detail.

The sergeant pulled his hooded paenula closer about his neck, and slumped against a tree. What a weird business this was—guarding a corpse!

He glanced at the face of the tomb. It was dug into a 14-foot bluff, gray and cold-looking in the gloom. A huge, circular stone, about five feet in diameter, completely covered the opening.

With a great hoisting and heaving, it had been rolled into a groove cut at the base of the opening, and sealed there with seven pegs.

Before the sealing, the sergeant had watched the two rich Jewish notables, Nicodemus and Joseph of Arimathea, wrapping the body in linens rubbed with gummy, brown myrrh and aloe preservatives.

To the sergeant, the extraordinary activity about the case—all this ado over a dead man—seemed ridiculous. And that babbled about rising to life again! Great Caesar's ghost! He picked up a stone and flung it at the face of the tomb. It banged against the rock wall, and clattered down into the blackness of the ground.

Then, all at once, everything became quiet. Silence reigned, total.

He felt an obscure uneasiness. He thought of moving about, scuffling his feet, to break the spell, but stood as if rooted. All life himself too, seemed momentarily suspended, halted, pausing on the verge of . . . he knew not what.

The stars still shone brightly, though. In fact, they seemed brighter than before. They were brighter. They were a great deal brighter. What was happening? What was wrong with his eyes? That light . . . that light in the sky!

It appeared as if a fissure was forming on the roof of the world, with a white brilliance pouring through, a celestial door opening. Its blinding purity flashed downward, shimmering, cascading in a flood.

The sergeant flung his arm over his eyes, a strangled cry in his throat.

A shattering blast rent his eardrums, although he was not sure it was a sound at all, but as if lightning had burst in his own head. A violent shaking seized the earth, and he felt himself falling.

There was another thunderous roar, a laughing roar, like a whole army shouting a triumph.

He had no sensation at all of hitting the ground, but he realized he was there, flat on his belly, his face twisted to one side in the dirt, his eyes registering the gaping mouth of the tomb.

The place shone like dazzling snow. The outlines of two figures took shape, like men but not like men, radiant, glowing heights of perfect light, and another appeared between them, taller, more resplendent still.

Then he could see no more. He didn't know how long he lay there. An instant, an hour . . . or had he lain there at all? All he knew was that he suddenly found himself standing again, his arms still folded at his chest, staring blankly into the flickering flames of the campfire.

Everything was just as it had been before. Except . . . he shook his head dazedly. Over there in a garden path stood some women, and a man, or someone, talking to them, and the sergeant heard what sounded like, "Be not afraid." Those people—just some more inquisitive townsfolk. He must have dozed, had a wild dream, and they came up while he was having the feverish illusions. His whole body was in a cold sweat.

Distrusting his senses, he turned slowly and looked at his companion. The soldier still sat there wrapped in his sheepskin. "Did you . . . ?" The soldier sat immobile as a dead man—his face waxen white.

Fearfully then, the sergeant raised his head and looked at the tomb. With a cry, he bolted.

And so it happened that in the gray dawn of that long-ago morning, there were two soldiers racing, indeed, they seemed flying, out of the grove of Joseph of Arimathea and along the road to Jerusalem.

When they had calmed sufficiently to be coherent, they told their story to their superiors, including Pilate, and also the ruling Sadducees, who paid them a large sum to conceal it, and to claim Nazarene's apostles must have stolen His body.

To fall asleep on guard duty was a capital offense—but Pilate and the Sadducees had to ignore this technicality to protect the tranquility of the state—namely their own authority. The soldiers, if they valued their necks, dared not talk in public.

But there was this conversation related in the ancient but non-doctrinal gospel of Nicodemus between the priests and the sergeant.

"We were very much afraid, and lay like dead men," he said haltingly. "Afterward we heard the voice of the angel saying to the women at the tomb, 'Be not afraid.'"

The priests demanded: "To what women did he speak?"

The sergeant: "We do not know who they were."

The priests: "At what time was this?"

The sergeant: "At midnight."

The priests: "And wherefore did you not lay hold on them?"

The sergeant: "We were like dead men from fear, not expecting to see the light of day again, and how could we lay hold on them?"

The priests: "As the Lord liveth, we do not believe you."

The sergeant: "Assuredly you have done well to swear that the Lord liveth, for indeed He does." The sergeant paused, his expression stubborn. He added quietly: "And Jesus is risen."

The volt, unit of electromotive force, was named for Count Alessandro Volta, Italian physicist (1745-1827).

Somehow or other
Our Faith in God and mankind is always revitalized
at EASTER TIME . . .

When we are reminded that the Higher Power granted His only Son permission to trod this earth; experience troubles and temptations like we mortals encounter — yes, even death . . . we feel more humble. With humility is born the feeling of a new sense of security. With this strengthening of our faith, the prospects of tomorrow seem brighter — our load is easier to shoulder.

A troubled humanity is again hungry to hear the joyous ringing of church bells Easter morn.
